

GMReis, Orthopedics Device Company, announced FDA (K) clearance to market the Expert AC – Knotless flexible fixation device for acute or chronic acromioclavicular joint reduction and stabilization. On the same clearance, there is also the Expert AC - Plate – Coracoid indicated for secondary fixation of the coracoid associated with distal clavicular plate in cases of fracture. This model has a special design with upper bottom that will interface properly with a clavicle plate autocompression hole. Both models are preloaded onto a unique inserter to facilitate its implantation under fluoroscopy via open procedure avoiding the use of scope or access beneath the coracoid.
